

April 20, 2006

Dear Dr. Farahmand,

As you know, I have had a discharge problem for a couple of years and for months at a time. My OBGYN prescribed antibiotics to fight off what he thought was yeast. The symptoms would disappear, but only for a short time. It was not uncommon for me to take showers 3 times a day. I would leave work at lunch time just to take a shower to feel clean again. This problem was interfering with my life.

In fact, it interfered with my sex life as well. I didn't have much confidence due to the discomfort and the uncontrollable smell. It was time to fix it.

I began treatment with you a few months ago, and was exposed to two methods of treatment; Homeopathy and Alternative Medicine. After a few sessions, I was back to normal and my discharge disappeared. I feel Great! I'm grateful to you and to your dedication to alternative medicine that in the end, changes lives.
You are a blessing.

Cordially,