

Dear Dr. Farahmand:

This is a letter to thank you for all the help that you have been to me, my family and friends. In my case you were able to make a very bad shoulder become normal again, you relieved a very bad case of cystitis brought on by menopause, you have gotten rid of canker sore and flu in no time, and I know we will soon have my irritable bowel syndrome completely under control. You have helped others with shoulder and knee injuries, mood disorders, bad eyesight, constipation and more. All of the above had been diagnosed and treated by regular medical doctors to no avail, and I feel you should be the insurance companies source of first resort rather than last resort, since your treatment completely eliminates the symptoms from coming back, rather than just suppressing them. Also, you have helped several people I know of with their back problems, etc. So I know that the insurance companies would save a great deal of money in the long run by including your services in those that are approved for patient's use.
